

We're Hiring

GIS Technician

The Town of Stephenville is looking for a competent GIS technician who will report to the Director of Municipal Services, and who is committed to continuing to lead Stephenville in the geospatial world with his/her technical skills and knowledge. This is a unionized position that will support the inter-departmental coordination of various designs using the latest GIS technology and the implementation of other visual analysis techniques to assist the town in its day to day operations.

Academic qualifications (GIS degree or diploma) are essential and experience with GIS technology is preferred. We are seeking the most qualified person possible – someone who has an excellent combination of academic qualifications and practical experience working with GIS technology.

So, if you're qualified and up for the challenge of working in the busy municipal world, why not drop us a line? Tell us what you have to offer. Let us know how you can contribute to the growth of Stephenville in the exciting area of GIS technology and design. We'd welcome an opportunity to hear from you and further discuss your ideas in this field and how you feel you can contribute to the team.

There is a competitive wage package provided and details of pension and health benefits will be shared with applicants upon request and more details will be shared with those selected for interview.

A copy of a detailed job description will be provided to all candidates selected for an interview. Applicants are to submit electronic applications only and a reply of confirmation of receipt of your application will be provided to you.

Applications should be forwarded as follows:
